the year in the country or next two years?

THE DEPUTY MINISTER IN THE MINISTRY OF LABOUR (SHRI PABAN SINGH GHATOWAR): (a) revision of syllabi of designated trades conducted by the Industrial Training Institutes in the country is a continuous process taken up from time to time under the expert guidance of Trade Committees to keep pace with the emerging new sophisticated technologies and rapid diversification in Industries.

(b) and (c) Introduction of the new trades under the Craftsmen Training Scheme is a continuous process based on the recommendations of State Governments/Union Territory Administrations, the user organisations represented by the employers organisations and experts.

The following new trades have been identified for introduction in Industrial Training Institutes.

1. Phototype Setter & Desk Top Publishing Operator.
2. Baker and Confectioner.
3. Architectural Draftsmanship.

In addition to the above, the State Governments are free to introduce trades in the I.T.Is. in their respective States depending upon local market requirements after obtaining approval of their State Councils for Vocational Training (SCVTs)

(d) So far as the opening of new Industrial Training Institutes in the country is concerned, it falls under the administrative control of the respective State Governments depending upon the growth of the Industry and the skilled manpower requirement. The role of the Directorate General of Employment and Training, Ministry of Labour is limited to grant affiliation to N.C.V.T. if all the pre-requisites are satisfactorily met. The Central Government has proposed setting up of 100 new Industrial Training Institutes for Women under a Centrally Sponsored Scheme under Vocational Training Project assisted by the World Bank.
